Define Problem Statements (Customer Problem Statement Template):

In today's fast-paced world, book lovers often struggle to find personalized book recommendations that align with their unique tastes and reading preferences. Traditional recommendation systems frequently fall short, offering generic suggestions that fail to capture individual preferences, leaving readers dissatisfied or overwhelmed. Additionally, readers may lack a platform for engaging, real-time interaction to explore new genres, authors, or hidden literary gems. This gap highlights the need for a user-friendly, intelligent chatbot companion that not only understands personal interests but also evolves with the reader's preferences, delivering curated and dynamic book recommendations in an interactive and engaging manner.
